"Education is a better safeguard of our country than any army." (Nehru)

Introduction

Education is a process through which we develop our knowledge, skills, attitudes and values. Education has been defined in many different ways. Education has been defined as the process of education, training and teaching. It is the process of education, training and teaching. It is the process of education, training and teaching. It is

Success and Problems

1. Use of Kiswahili

In Tanzania, children are still expected to learn English as a subject. The other language of instruction is Urdu and, as a result, children are in a situation where they find difficulty in using English as a language of instruction and even in learning English subjects. But the language that used in offices and schools are mostly English.

2. Inexpert Teachers

Inexpert teachers are often a major block in children's ability to fulfill the current aims of education. Teachers are those who are trying hard to teach children and to create a positive learning environment. But they are not well trained to teach children effectively. Most of them are not well equipped with skills which allow effective children.
