

Polarisation is one of the factors which has contributed towards the current political crisis in Pakistan. Views and ideologies of political parties have become so polarized, that it is ~~resulting~~ leading towards a new political chaos. The rhetoric used by political figures is highly polarized in nature. It includes religious words like 'Jihad'. Which creates highly polarized society. By using these words political figures develop a polarized mindset of their supporters. Due to polarized nature of our politics, emotions of hatred, intolerance and dislikeness have arisen. This badly damages the very fabric of our society.
