

Week 2

Second week

Instruction: Write five paragraphs of your own choice.

Curiosity is the key to discovery. It keeps the man curiously consistent. It raises whys in a discoverer's mind and urges him to walk bravely on a convoluted path to solve a puzzle. History bears witness that how the critical mind of Einstein raised a question: why apple fell on the floor despite moving towards the blue roof. At last, after struggling a lot, he succeeded to solve this puzzle and gave the world theory of gravity. Thus, it is a critical mind which brings something startling out of this statically moving world.

(Total words: 92)

Without suffering and pain, nothing worthwhile can be gained. When a man begins something bigger and better than what he has, he is to be prepared for challenges he will be facing after holding his desired seat; so, life jolts him. He has to embark upon a tiring journey where on the way he is injured badly. Let us have a look at a CSS aspirant's journey. Most of the aspirants belong to a mediocre family and either stranger's behavior and financial constraints or lonely roads and satanic attacks tear them into thin pieces. Yet, at each hard hit, they become stronger than before, ^{and} ~~but~~ at last, they become inspiration for others. Hence, something respectable cannot be achieved easily.

Consistency is the key to success.
It is to overcome all the obstacles and cross all the batticoles of ones way. It makes a man indomi-tably well disciplined and enabled him to achieve something unbelievable.
If one leafs through the pages of history, one will find each successful man consistently clinged to his goal, as our Quaid. He persistently pursued the Pakistan cause and succeeded to achieve a glorious victory in the form of a marked muslim majority state on the world map. Hence Therefore, keep going on until reaching at ones already defined final stop brings desirable results.

Topic Sentence

Solution to soaring inflation is not in raising interest rate.

Reason/
Explanation

The reason is it devalues the rupee and makes it difficult for the public to buy food.

Supporting
point

Surprisingly, it does not change the borrowing and spending behavior of the stakeholders.

Example/
Evidence

Today, In Pakistan, Interest rate is 21%, yet SBP is planning to add in it some more basic points despite the fact that public is compelled to fill its flour and rice bags as nobody can survive without necessities of life. Similarly, the government is ready to give its reign into the hands of IMF for borrowing some dollars to keep the economic cycle on track.

Concluding
Sentence

Thus, raising interest rate for controlling inflation is not the right solution.

Topic
Sentence

Nuclear weapons are one of the many nuclear challenges to world peace in 21st century.

Reason/
Explanation

As the world saw demonstration of the destruction caused by ^{newly developed} nuclear weapons in 20th century, this 21st century is the age of innovation; thus, a single nuclear explosion can destroy the whole world.

Supporting
Point

And more threatening is the thing that, most of the world's nuclear powers are archrivals of each other.

Example/
Evidence

For instance Russia and USA, Pakistan and India, and many times they came close to nuclear war. e.g. India ^{and Pakistan} came close to nuclear conflagration in February 2019 (Mike Pompeo, Never Give an Inch, 2022).

Concluding
Sentence

Thus, nuclear weapons are a looming nuclear threat to the world peace in 21st century.