Many people die every year because of injuries they encounter during their working hours in factories, mills or industries. We are not poor in making policies, but the real challenge is implementation. Sindh Occupational Safety and Health Act, 2017, law in Punjabⁱⁿ 2019, ensured the safety of our people; however, we are still ignoring their right to safety. Therefore, 2.3 million people die every year due to work-related accidents and diseases globally (Dawn, 2023). Hence, we are in dire need of implementing healthcare policies so that further lives would not be sacrificed.
