

The ideology of Pakistan is a piecemeal, which has been attacked at different intervals of time. Ideology of Pakistan offers for a democratic setup in the country, but it has been assaulted by governor generals and military chiefs since its inception, though directly or indirectly. For instance, governor general, Malik Ghulam Khan's one man show by dissolving the constituent assembly and military coups in 1958, 1969, 1977 and 1999, providing no solid and just footings for their actions. Moreover, Pakistan's ideology provides for strong economic development. However, the country's economy has plummeted from 6% GDP growth rate to 3% in the FY 2022. This all shows that ideology of Pakistan demonstrates inspiring principles, but only in theory not in practical sense.
