

The future of a mankind in global warming perspective

Outline

1- Introduction

Thesis statements: Global warming is a real threat to survival of a mankind. In fact, human activities are main contributor in the day by day rise of global warming phenomenon. However, certain political, religious, and social efforts would be beneficial to address this global issue.

2- Global warming is a global issue

3- Factors that are responsible for global warming

- a) Deforestation is a social cause of global warming due to impracticable activities of a mankind.
- b) Burning of fossil fuels in any open area
- c) Use of private vehicles is common to increase global warming level
- d) Industrialization is root cause of global warming

4- Global warming: A threat to the future of a mankind

- a) Lack of effective policies of the government put a human life in danger
- b) Loss in agriculture results food insecurity
- c) Poverty would be a growing future problem for a mankind
- d) Global warming has affected people's labour
- e) Human health would be primarily affected by global warming
- f) Life of a mankind would be at the risk of death
- g) Due to economic loss, inflation in developing countries would be a curse for a mankind

5- There is need to save the future of a mankind

- a) Government's National Clean Air Policy is a hope of a safe future of a mankind
- b) International policy on carbon trading would be beneficial for a mankind especially for developing countries
- c) Religious seminaries must be regulated to expose the importance of a human and a plant life.

d) Media should play its positive role to spread awareness against global warming issue and safe strategies for a living planet.

6- Conclusion