

"If we don't end the war, war will end us!"
To avoid destruction on large scale, it is necessary to end war. War is such an unwanted event that it blows up everything. History reveals that how nations perished away in different wars. The world war I (1914-18) and the world war II (1939-45) are the most destructive wars recorded ever. Both wars cost millions of lives and other socio-economic losses. Thus war must end, otherwise it will end everything.

Paragraph

Topic :- Poverty

Poverty is a condition where people earn less for a certain standard of living. There is a world wide poverty crises. Poverty affects people of every age, colour, race and gender. In a society, poverty causes malnutrition, illiteracy and other socio-economic issues. To curb poverty all stakeholders, governments and Non-Profit organisations (NGOs) must design poor-friendly policies. An effective implementation of such policies can address the poverty.

Urbanisation

Urbanisation... is the increase in the proportion of people living in towns and cities. It occurs when people move from rural areas to urban areas. There are two factors involved in urbanisation. These are Push and Pull factors. Push factors are those which forces people to come out of less-privileged areas to cities and towns. These factors include lack of employment opportunities, poverty and ~~the~~ under-developed basic facilities. While Pull factors attract people towards cities to live their life upto a certain standard of living.

Climate Change.

Climate change has become the most challenging issue of the world. Carbon emissions in atmosphere are increasing on rapid pace. This increase in the emissions poses a serious threats to the environment. Rise in temperature increase in frequency of floods, heavy rainfalls and human health problems are the most stressing impacts of climate change. It is need of hour that nations must follow the protocols, which they have signed to reduce their carbon emissions.
