

The one who uses force is afraid of reasoning

Write thesis statement below as it is quite hard to make sense of the following outline.

1, Introduction

~~Thesis statement:~~

Simplify or paraphrase the topic as heading at least

2, What does the proverb "The one who uses force is afraid of reasoning" signify?

3, Why individuals use force instead of reasoning?

a, They are incompetent and want to hide their insecurities

b, Nurturing plays a vital role in future behavior

c, Those who are bullied at early age d, Those who are over-ambitious and want to impose their will on others

4, The fallacy of force

a, Violence leads to human rights abuse

b, It leads to Gender-Based violence

c, It breeds separatist movements

d, It is one of the main reasons of wars among nations

5, The Power of Reasoning

- a, conflicts can be resolved through reasoning and dialogue
- b, Many scientific innovations are the result of curiosity and reasoning
- c, Reasoning breeds intellectuals
- d, Through reasoning one can achieve one's goals

6, Balance between force and reasoning. In what circumstances force can be justified?

7, Conclusion

The points in outline are good however a bit ambiguous at first glance. Better to mention examples as sub points for clarity as it is difficult to work out the points whether they are about international relations or individuals.