

Original Paragraph

From the moment we are born, we cannot live alone; we stand in continual need of assistance of all around us, for body and soul and spirit; we need clothes which other men make; houses, which other men build, food, which other men produce; we have to get our livelihood by working for others, while others get their livelihood in return by working for us. As children we need our parents to be our comforters, and to take care of others; we cannot exist a day without our fellowmen; we require teachers to educate us; books and masters to teach our trade; and when we have learned it and settled ourselves in life we require laws made by others man who died hundreds of years before we were born, To Secure to us our rights and properties, to Secure to Comforts in our Station and we need friends to Comfort us in Sorrow and to Share our Joy.

Human Being is Dependent.

By Birth human being needs the help of others fellow being. They could not survive a single day without the help of other. When they settled they require laws which was made by other a long ago to safe his rights and properties. They need friends to share happiness and sorrow.
