Topic Sentence:

The nuclear challenges have posed a significant threat to global peace during the 21st century. Nuclear terrorism ranks up top as one of the biggest of them all.

Reasoning Sentence:

The potential use of nuclear weapon by non-state actors poses grave concerns for the world peace and prosperity.

Supporting Point:

The nuclear terrorism has become central issue, with non state actors trying to get their hands on nuclear materials and technology. It also undermines the efforts towards nonproliferation by the UN.

Example:

Terrorist groups motivated by extremist ideologies may seek stability, instilling fear, and triggering massive humanitarian and environmental disasters (Joseph Cirincione, Bomb Scare: The History and Future of Nuclear Weapons, 2007)

Conclusion:

Hence, nuclear challenges in the 21st century are immense and can disturb the peace globally in a matter of seconds.
