

Has the United Nations Organisation succeeded in averting war in the world

Outline

1. Introduction

Thesis statement: The United Nations Organisation (UNO) has somewhat succeeded in averting war in the world. Thus, claim of some critics that the UNO has fully succeeded in avoiding conflict does not carry weight. In fact, this world is witnessing never-ending fights.

2. The role of the UNO in avoiding wars

3. Failure of the UNO to avoid war (Thesis)

- a) Failed to stop a country from waging war
- b) Presence of Civil wars
- c) Happening of Genocide
- d) Occurrence of nuclearization
- e) Foreign funding for wars

4. The UNO has succeeded in avoiding conflicts (Antithesis)

- a) Countries were refrained from going to war
- b) Ending of Civil wars
- c) Helped end genocide
- d) Happening of denuclearization
- e) Funding for wars is countries' internal matter

5. Conflicts are still there (Synthesis)

- a) Many countries have not stopped war
- b) Several civil wars are still happening
- c) No end to genocide
- d) No end to Denuclearisation
- e) To end war funding is the UNO's job

6. Conclusion