

Global trade and trade policies of China

Outline

- 1- Introduction: Thesis statements:- Global trade and trade policies of China are reshaped into a new concept. Concept of global trade is led by dollarization of trade, liberalization of trade, free trade agreements etc, while China has certain trade policies including protectionist policy, currency swap agreements, and BOT model in international markets. Therefore, some steps be followed to support global trade equally.
- 2- Global trade in relation with trade of China
- 3- Contemporary concept of global trade
 - a) dollarization of international trade
 - b) Rise of capitalist economy in global markets
 - c) liberalization of trade policies globally
 - d) Reduction of technical barriers in trade agreements
 - e) Role of WTO in promotion of global trade
 - f) Internationally free trade deals among states
- 4- Trade policies of China in the context of global trade
 - a) currency swap agreements with regional and global countries
 - b) Concept of making Yuan an international currency
 - c) Trading in Yuan instead of dollar in global markets

- d) Supply of goods and services at cheaper rates in international market
- e) Protectionist policies of trading globally
- f) Concept of BOT model in favour of trade of China
- g) Development of CPEC - BRI in promotion of global trade of China
- h) Promotion of energy trading agreements internationally

5- Remedial measures in favour of global trade equally

- a) Monitoring trade policies of countries for stable trading system
- b) Settling trade disputes by WTO
- c) Role of global economic states in trade negotiations
- d) Ensuring secure digitalization of trade in global markets

6- Conclusion