

Prezis:

Total words: 218

People tend to think highly of themselves and their countries believing they are the best. However, every person and country has both good and bad qualities.

It's important to acknowledge the good and work on improving the bad. We are of course more concerned with our own country.

~~It~~ In our country many people are poor and unhappy. Make a way to make them happy. And if someone find good in other countries they should keep it.

Words: 76

Title:

Recognizing the good and
Addressing the bad.