

Title: Oracles: The Voice of Greeks

The uncertain happenings of human life and their powerless efforts as compare to nature's vastness make them needy of some supernatural powers which regulated the all creations of the world. As in the ancient Greece, Prophets conveyed as well as interpreted these uncertain happenings through the guidance of gods. Likewise, the soothsayers illustrated different ways by which many events occur and relate them with happenings. However, there were many times God directly spoke with His oracles without using sign and delivered His message. Similarly, the prophet or the prophetess recieved that message in meditation. In a nut shell, the oracles of Greek depend upon the knowlege of forseeing the future and God delivered His messages to the prophet and prophets as a bridge between people and God preached that message to his followers.
