

Preci-1998

Title: Lying is an accursed.

Lying is indeed an accursed. We know each other by speaking. When we know the bad result of lie than we should have punish it. I personally know the people those are careless about thier children and careless about bad consequences. Lie growth by birth in children and at one stage its impossible to control it.

Lie is a type of slavery. Thier are a tailor boy who never speak truth even getting advantage. Truth is better way to Judge possition. Lie have infinite boundries. Evil have boundless and uncertain. Anyone can lie to protect himself from danger. Different nations people do not regard one another as men.

word count : 325

precise : 104