

~~Topic~~ Flawed State Education Systems

Education does not evolve itself.

It reflects the image of the society as it teaches the knowledge of the people. The future of education would be defined by the family, demographic factors and the innovations.

The Educational Systems will decide the subject selection, keeping in view the technological aspects. As Horace Mann said that the education is the basic elements of the nations and it will be use specifically for the sake of technology. Despite the sense of realization for the advancement in education, the state systems of education may not go with the flow because of poverty and cultural cohesion.
