

Different Climates and Their Impact.

Different climates like temperate cold, moderate cold, tropical and hot climate; all affects us differently. A cold temperate climate acts as a hurdle in our activities whereas a hot climate makes us less motivated and lazy. In moderate cold regions people have to make a lot of struggle and overcome hurdles for their survival. On the other hand people living in tropical regions/ climate have to face no such difficulties. Their life is easy as compared to people in extreme cold regions. These different climate patterns can help us in recognizing our true-self.
