

Q#02

Man: Busy as Devil

Howe in the world is caused by busy people who do not appreciate worth of some idle time spent away from usuality drudgery. The author imagines the kingdom of devil to be a very busy place with no tolerance for idlers. The upside-down world of man is similarly flawed and fractured by lack of passivity in life. Here, anything is possible except act of kindness and a moment of calm meditation. Thus, whereas channeling energy in the right direction counts for productivity, its misdirection has historically been catastrophic. If laziness is acquitted of charge of criminality, the world will be more a garden of Eden than kingdom of devil. Therefore the globe will be better off if its movers and shakers were employed to idle away and do nothing. For it is the flaw of workaholicism that has led to a muddled world. escape from the same is the only way out.

(word count)

passage: 436

precis: 145

(Exact 1/3)