

"Importance of Educational institutions in human life"

For a better survival human beings need to inculcate affection and empathy for fellow human beings. For this, education sectors can play their part. In past clergy and political elites tried but failed to produce a human-friendly intelligence. Instead, they added lust of wealth and power in human nature. Therefore, men in past focused on accumulation of wealth and procurement of power. As a result, chances of deadly confrontation could have increased. That is why role of educators and educational institution is very important. They have capacity to enhance complex pattern of human intelligence and infuse love, kindness and affection in it.
