The rise of populism and the opportunist nature of politicians is an important factor behind the upsurge of Islamophobia in West. The politicians use anti-Islamism approach to gain public support and win elections. For instance, USA President Donald's manifesto in 2016 presidential elections had anti-Muslim elements, such as refusing visa to seven Muslim countries. Similarly, the Indian Prime Minister Narendra Modi won the elections on same ground. Therefore, Muslim world should consider refraining West politicians from using anti-Islamism as an opportunity for themselves.
