Election Intrigue ⇒

The actual uncertainty will begin on 9th August 2023 when the prime Minister will consult the President of Pakistan - Dr. Arif Alvi - for the dissolution of National Assembly. The Prime Minister will be given 48 hours to compel, failing ^{which} the National Assembly will dissolve by itself. The National Assembly will dissolve on 11th August, 2023, a day before the five years dissolution of assembly on 12th August. The premature dissolution of National Assembly leads to the elections to be held within the 90 days according to the constitutions. Another issue that is recently evolving is the nomination of the caretaker ~~etc~~ setup. There is still a conflict between the government allies and the opposition leader Raja Riaz. The opposition leader had subjected the list to himself up to now. There is no doubt that he is also shopping a ticket for the MNA seat. This confusion of caretaker setup has once again created a sense of fear and tension in the citizens of Pakistan. Because they wanted the elections to be held on time, but unfortunately the fate of the polls seems blurry. The recent interview of the Prime Minister on one of TV station, in which he narrates that: He wants the elections to be held on the new census bases. Although his this idea is almost being rejected by his own members of the party. For the bright future of the Pakistan and Pakistani people, it is necessary that the elections should be held on time. Because it the right of citizens and they must be given their rights.
