

Child Labor in Pakistan

Child Labor is increasing in Pakistan. Although, It is illegal according to our constitution, but its graph can be seen upwards. Secondly, It has been reported that, almost ~~11~~ 11 million children are engaged in child labor in Pakistan. Thirdly, these all children are away from education. Furthermore, that is the result of their parents lack of education. It is responsibility of parents to show right direction to their children. According to International Labor Organization (ILO) it is illegal but in Pakistan, it is considered as source of low cost. However, children are easily available to companies for labor and at low cost that is favourable for companies to engage them. Moreover, Children have to bear abuses during work that negatively impact on their minds. However, it is looking challenge for our institutions to take serious steps against those companies or individuals who are involved in child labor. In end, if Pakistani government brings reforms, child labor can be controlled otherwise, it will be difficult to get, well skilled youngsters in future.
