Indent the paragraph.

There are three different groups having different perspectives ^{on} for freedom in education. First group ^{says} that children should be completely free and second ^{argues} that they should be under some authority. Third group that seems ^{says} that children should be morally perfect even if they are completely free. This group ^{believes} that education is only ^{Individualistic?} an opportunity and for self-development and growth. ^{The} Author disagrees with this group because they ignore importance of knowledge and co-operation to solve existing problems. If children are left unchecked, they may lack self control and moral values. Therefore, education should equip children with morality and mental strength along with growth.
