

Masha

Has democracy failed in Pakistan?

A. Introduction

B. History of democracy struggle in Pakistan

C. Is Really democracy delivering in Pakistan?

i. Pakistan has really had any real democracy?

ii. Institutions strong and independent and yet amenable to the civilian democratic control

iii. Frequent intervention of Non-civilian forces into Political domain

a. Political engineering by military establishment

iv. The Power game and the blame game

v. Illiberalism the main culprit.

Not a proper term

D. Why Democratic system is weak in Pakistan

i. Massive illiteracy

ii. Lack of good governance

a. Lack of constitution

iii. Fedual System

a. Intervention by Military

b. civil-Military relation

c. The Military disrupts Pakistan's Democracy

iv. National and Regional Political parties

a. Dynastic Politics and Political culture

b. Leadership Crisis and Personalization of politics

v. Lack of Elections and Electoral Reforms

vi. Unbated Corruption

vii. Rise in inflation and poverty viii. Absence of transparency and Accountability manifests the reality of democracy in Pakistan.

viii. Prevalence of gender inequality shows the worth of democracy

a. Lack of freedom of speech

clarify

clarify

so far

Pak was had 3 so far relevance to subpoints?

clarify

relate to topic

IV. Abysmal Economy

How to deliver democracy in Pakistan

A. Social Factor

1. Improving literacy rates
2. Increase role of women in political, economic and social sectors
3. Presence of wide-awake and relatively independent media

B. Administrative Factors

1. Engagement of military in counter-terrorism activities and on eastern border.
2. More professional and cautious approach of military leadership
3. Revival of the institution of local government

C. Political Factors:

1. Emergence of new National level political parties
2. Completion of democratic tenures how?
3. Increase political awareness among the masses

D. Smooth transfer of power by the two government

E. Reforms in the Election Commission of Pakistan

F. Political instability should not affect the democracy system, Economy system.

Conclusion

Is it possible?