Title: Manto's Realist View of Life

Manto was victim of social evils and entered into a self-satisfied state. Cases were filed against him for his writings. However, he kept exploring the harsh realities of life. He highlighted the sex issue as <sup>real</sup> ~~an~~ socio-economic issue, with the center of ~~concentration~~ <sup>and his center of debate were the poor</sup> was poor. For him, man ~~does~~ both good and bad acts. His readers could easily understand his concerns on socio-economic issues because his characters acted like human beings. He ~~was aware of man's weaknesses.~~ He treated vulgarity artistically. Like other great writers of his time, his writings were liked by many people, and people were able to relate themselves with his characters. ✓
