

Saad

The One Who Uses Force Is Afraid of Reasoning

OUTLINE:

1. Introduction

Thesis Statement: An overview of various factors proves that force is used by those, who are afraid of reasoning. There are many causes behind it; certain steps must be taken to end these causes.

2. Understanding Using Force Due to Afraid of Reasoning

3. An Overview of Factors Which Prove that One Who Uses Force Is Afraid of Reasoning:

3a. Use of force against women

3b. Use of force against children

- 3c. Use of force in schools
- 3d. Avoiding difficult conversations
- 3e. Use of force by TTP
- 3f. Uprooting of protests
- 3g. Lack of accountability
- 3h. Censorship of media

4. Case Studies:

- 4a. Use of force in Kashmir
- 4b. Use of force in Palestine

5. Reasons Behind Using Force:

- 5a. Failure of educational institutes to inject morality
- 5b. Promotion of extremism by media and entertainment industry
- 5c. Lack of rule of law

6. Recommendations for Promoting the Culture of Reasoning

And Logic:

6a. Focus on character-building in educational institutes

6b. Limiting the role of media and entertain-

6c. ment industry

Ensuring rule of law

7. Conclusion

ESSAY:

Ali and Hamza were discussing on a point. Ali was determined to prove his point, and he became frustrated when Hamza did not immediately agree with him, so he raised his voice. Hamza, however, remained calm and presented a evidence to support his stance. At the end Ali acknowledged Hamza's viewpoint, and his forceful tactics did not work. In this way, it is proven that one who uses force is afraid of reasoning. There are many other factors, which prove it, like domestic violence against women. Similarly, use of violence against children in school. Some people avoid difficult conversations. TTP also uses force against government of Pakistan. Lack of accountability is also present. There are many causes behind using force. Educational institutes have failed to inject morality. Media and entertainment industry also promotes extremism. In fact, an overview of various factors proves that force is used by those, who are afraid of reasoning. There are many causes behind it; certain steps must be taken to overcome these causes.

Having said this, it can be safely stated that one who uses force is afraid of reasoning. Force is used against women in home due to lack of reasoning. Force is also used against children in schools. Force is used to uproot the protests. Force is used by TTP against Pakistan. There are many factors, which are responsible for using this force. To end these causes, certain steps must be taken. There should be focus on character-building in educational institutes. Effective rule of law is also important for eliminating rule of law. There recommendations will make the less use of force, and in this way, the future of humankind will be more bright.