

Is Pakistan ready for digital revolution

1. Introductory Paragraph

2. Grunch Paragraph

3. Pakistan is ready for digital Revolution
(Thesis)

a. Transformation of public services through e-govt.

b. NADRA is a catalyst for change in most modern organization.

c. Pakistan Citizen portal to provide Citizen's access to govt entities.

d. Young ones can be the real game-changers.

e. Required political will is there

• Pakistan's digital readiness is hindered by some factors. (Antithesis).

a. Limited provision of e-services.

b. But it is failing to cater the needs of marginalized communities.

c. Despite being a well-intended initiative, the PCP is failing to serve the envisioned purpose.

d. Digital illiteracy would be a daunting challenge.

e. Five-years' tenure discourages the long-term programs.

5. Despite its some loopholes, Digitalization can cure the existing ills of Pakistan. (Synthesis)

- a. Despite less provision, the internet infrastructure in Pakistan is on the right track.
- b. NADRA has gained international recognition for its success in providing solutions for identification, e-governance, and secure documents.
- c. Something is always better than nothing.
- d. Digital literacy is more as compared to that of illiteracy.
- e. A democratic government has launched Digital Pakistan Policy.

6. Conclusion.