

1. 1202 Day: _____
Essay: Women remain on the losing side
in professional life.

Outline

1. Introduction

Thesis Statement: Gender disparity is a pressing issue globally. Although steps are taken to provide women with equal opportunities, but still women remain on the losing side in their professional lives.

2. Co-relation between gender disparity and professional life of women.

3. Women remain on the losing side in the professional life. (Thesis)

- a) Pay gap: women are often hired at lower pay rates compared to men.
- b) Societal expectations and gender stereotypes hinder women success in their professional lives.
- c) limited career options for women are considered acceptable in the society.
- d) Work place discrimination and security issues impede women involvement in various professions.
- e) Underrepresentation of women in the executive roles.

4. Women are not on the losing side in professional life. (anti-thesis).

- a) Gender equity policies exist to varying extents in numerous countries across various fields globally.
- b) Government and constitutional laws favour individual choices.
- c) Quota system advocates women inclusion in various professions.

d) Shift in cultural perceptions can advocate women participation in diverse professions.

e) Visionary women: Shaping history's narrative.

5. Despite efforts for gender parity, women still remain on the pressing side in the professional life. (Synthesis)

a) Persisting disparities: Challenges faced by women despite gender equity policies in professions.

b) Silenced choices: women's legal rights strained by social pressure.

c) Trapped in stereotypes: women struggle amidst the quota system.

d) Deep rooted patriarchal mindset is difficult to alter.

e) Dual realities: successful women leaders admit the shackles of social customs.

Conclusion.