An old man told that on the other side of the forest is a mountain where that flower grows. That has a fragrance that brings back the eyes' lost light. But the mountain is gigantic and it is full of rocks and bushes, and stones that block the path. Many people came to climb up this mountain but not a single ~~man~~ <sup>Person</sup> was able to reach till that flower. Maybe that's the reason why this world is full of sorrows and everyone is in search for light and purpose.

The Purpose Of Education.

Among the three schools of thought regarding freedom in education, Rousseau vitalize the third one. It states that children should be free and it should always be good. The writer does not agree to this concept. He believes that education should be more than just growth. According to the writer it is necessary to provide at least a minimum education of Science and Technology. And he also believes that children should be free ~~but~~ to learn and explore but under supervision. Education not just provide opportunities for growth but it also provides mental and moral ethics, which children being free, on their own and not being in any education system can not acquire for themselves.
