

Precise 2017 { " Title: Evils: the root cause of the basest" }

According to the author, all the evils into the world are perpetuated by the basest creature of the world. And they criticise those who are doing nothing, but actually the lazy people are driven by humanity. Unfortunately, the energies of the world has been ~~was~~ misused. For instance, the bombs dropped on Japan could not have dropped. Currently, if the great leaders of the world appreciated laziness then the world can benefit it. But no lesson is taken out of history, crises and catastrophes. The rush to Versailles was not needed but a peace conference in a well suited environment. Moreover, the religious sects conduct conferences to condemn the prevailing values, which they do not need to do so. In a nutshell, either energies should be used for benefit or laziness should be appreciated. In other case, the world will witness more serious problems.

Word Count.

Total - 450.
Precise - 143.