

title: Importance of Affection in Children's Education (CSS-2019)

Nowadays, scholars focus on children's freedom neglecting the idea of friendly relations with them. If children are loved, they will be obedient. The effective way of showing affection to them is to simply enjoying their existence and teachers should get this quality too. It is impossible for over-burdened teachers to have a natural love for children. So, education should not be a profession. Since, children have hectic sociality which leads to frustration if they are undisciplined. Therefore, friendly relations with children also need discipline. However, they should be disciplined based on intuitive ~~dec~~ decisions based on love.
