

New war fronts lie in Economic Zones

outline

1- Introduction

Thesis Statement: As the multipolar world order materializes, economic zones develop as new battle grounds where rivals compete to control trade routes and economic infrastructure instead of chasing enemies in traditional battlefields.

2- New world order the dawn of multipolarity

3- Why emerging war fronts along economic zones instead of battlefields?

(a) Classical war having huge consequences whereas economic warfare comparatively less violent

(b) Economic war fronts guarantee global supremacy and security

(c) Economic war fronts portrays global perception of soft power

4- An overview of weapons of economic war fronts

a) sanctions and embargos

b) International aid and debt trap

c) Destabilization of rival's economy

d) Blocking shipping pathways

e) control over natural resources

5- Current manifestations of conflicts across the economic zones.

a) Global competition among rivals for economic infrastructure projects

i) BRI, B3W and PII

b) US-China trade war a demonstration of modern war

- c) countries striving to control maritime trade routes to exert influence
- d) The de-dollarization campaign redefining the global economy and trade
- e) Rivalries between economic blocks of north and south

6- How states mitigate the threat of economic wars.

- a) promotion of bilateral negotiations
- b) diplomatic alliance and trade partnerships
- c) Focusing on technological advancements for economic independence
- d) Reducing reliance on a single sector or trading partner

7- Conclusion