

Social Media has destroyed real life communication.

Outline

1. Introduction

Thesis statement: social media has significantly influenced the dynamics of our communication, introducing both advantages and drawbacks.

Despite facilitating virtual communication, it has destroyed real life communication.

2. The nexus between the realm of social media and the intricacies of interpersonal communication.

3. How social media has eroded real life communication.

a) The advent of social media has undermined face to face interaction.

b) Reduced empathy and compassion in the communication.

c) Increased chances of mis-understanding.

d) Lack of attentiveness due to distractions.

e) Spending more time on social media results in spending less time on physical interaction.

4. How social media has enhanced real life communication (anti-nerds).

a) Facilitated screen-to-screen interaction from distant places.

b) Created opportunities of interacting with large audience which is not possible physically.

c) Quick mode of communication.

d) Valuable tool for organizing and coordinating real life events.

e) Allows to share real time updates and alerts.

5. Erosion of real life communication in the age of social media (synthesis).

a) Although social media increased virtual communication, but decreased in-person bonding.

b) Screen to screen interaction encourages superficial connections.

c) Miscommunication gives rise to conflicts.

d) Social media has increased online connections but reduced real life relations.

e) Fear of mis-<sup>understanding</sup> communication resulted in shallow relationships.

6. Conclusion.