Q: Rewrite the following dialogue, written in direct speech, in a paragraph form. (CSS 2018)

Jack: Hello, Swarup! Swatting away as usual. Come out, man; shut up your old books, and come and have a game of tennis.

Swarup: I am sorry I cannot do that, Jack. The examination is drawing near, and I want every hour I can get for study.

Jack: Oh! Hang all examinations! I do not worry about mine. What is the use of them, anyway?

Swarup: Well, you can't get a degree if you don't pass the examination; and I have set my heart on being a graduate.

Jack: And pray what good will graduation do you? You may get a clerkship in a government office; but that's all, and there are hundreds of fellows who have got their degrees, and are nearer getting jobs of any sort.

Swarup: That may be so; but I am not studying so much to pass my examination and obtain my degree, as to store my mind with knowledge and develop my intellectual faculties.

Jack greeted Swarup and found him reading book. he asked Swarup to shut his books and play tennis. Swarup rejected the idea and apologized Jack that as his examination was drawing near, he wanted every hour he could get for study. Jack cursed Swarup about examination and asked him not to worry ~~not~~ about it as he did not about his own. Swarup, in response, justified Jack that he could not get a degree if he did not pass the exam. He further added that he had set his heart on being a graduate. Then Jack asked Swarup what good would graduation bring. He told that Swarup might get a clerkship in government office but there were hundred of fellows who had got their degrees and were nearer getting jobs of any sort. Swarup partially agreed and said that he was not studying so much to pass his examination and obtain his degree as to store his mind with knowledge and develop his intellectual faculties.
