

Aspects of culture in human society.

Two main aspects of culture in human societies, formal and ideological. Social culture is a reflection of ideology and both are innate. They are changed with the society. Cultural problems, political and economic, cannot be solved with joining the society. Cultural problems of developing countries should be solved in the light of broad ideas. These problems are barriers to growth.

~~Non~~ ~~democratic~~ Non democratic system colonialism, imperialism, breeds them. No doubt European imperialism caught up Asia, Africa and Latin American from sixteenth to nineteenth century. Some adopted feudal culture and others tribalism. These stopped social and cultural development. Despite highly intellectual at these

~~to~~ to elite class. Primitive had limited nothing intellectual. Feudal and tribal societies were engaged in ethnic culture. Colonialism was accentuated in them horizontally and vertically.

That is why, countries got goods
from colonialists.

Total words 354

Craven words: 130

Date: ___/___/20

CSS Translation 2016

M T W T F S

Common people think that the laws of a country and individual liberty are opposite to each other. ~~It does not seem~~

Apparently it does not seem to be wrong.

Every law put some sanction on the citizens. If laws in a country are great many, collective restrictions are also many. Individual freedom smothered up due to many restrictions. Unlike, if laws are less in numbers, the orbit of freedom of citizens is broadened.