

Topic:

Social Media has destroyed
real-life communication

OUTLINE

1) Introduction:

Thesis statement: Since the advent of technology, social media platforms have destroyed real-life communication. Online meetings lead to a loss of genuine emotional intimacy among people. So, strike a balance is the need of the hour.

2) How social media has destroyed real-life communication?

2.1) Lack of cordial relations among people

2.2) Cultivated disharmony and nurtured weak bonds

2.3) Distance among individual's face to face cultural and social interactions

2.4) A major source of misunderstanding and miscommunication

2.5) Sharing of personal informations disturbs privacy that lead to discomfort

2.6) Diminishing of personal information growth and development

3) Why people prefer online communication to physical interactions?

3.1) Cost effective and time-efficient to individual's choice

3.2) Easy to convey information on larger scale

3.3) Globally, active response from social media users on time taking decisions

3.4) Trending social media marketing for earning

4) What are the implications of social media that has destroyed real-life communication?

4.1) A sense of loneliness and disconnection in real-life

4.2) Bridging linguistic gaps for future generations

4.3) Impositioning geographical barriers among nations due to negative data availability

4.4) Death of original feelings, emotions

5) He er

6)

Date: _____

and thoughts while misinterpreting of online gossips and messages

5) How we can strike a balance to ensure healthy real-life co-interactions?

5.1) Constructive role of social media regulatory authorities

5.2) Need to harness it's power responsibly

5.3) Onus on the civil society to shun the overuse of social media platforms

6) Conclusion