Title: Palestinian Issue through
Nizar's Eyes

Nizar Hassan was a Palestinian filmmaker who ~~major~~ majored in Anthropology. After graduating, he started his career in filmmaking and ~~soon~~ produced a documentary named Independence. In 'Independence' he draws attention over Israel's asinine claims of independence. The author received a copy of Nizar's latest film 'My Grandfather' around the time when Israel was starting another annexation. The gist of the film was to not let one's hatred for their enemies strip them of their values and principles. ~~And~~ this was exactly ^{what} the author learned from it. The film pointed out Israel's atrocities and reflected how the rest of ~~the~~ world was equal in this crime by not voicing Palestinian's plight. A small version of the movie was also telecasted on Al-Jazeera, ~~But~~ the writer thinks that the entire movie should be played as it is a ~~is~~ religious duty.
