Title: Minto's writing Exposing Society's Reality.

Minto was criticised by his opponent ^{For being} being vulgar and obscene in his writing. However, he remained firm in his commitment to exploring the dark realities of society. He treated sex not an abstract concept but as concrete reality of life. He considered that man is mixture of good and bad. He portrayed his character in a very realistic way. Similarly, he wrote vulgar content in a simple manner. Therefore, many readers could relate to his work and found it to be reflection of their lives. Like, other great writers, Minto became ^{Rephrase} bigger than himself.
