

Children are not things to be molded but are people to be folded.

Outline

1- Introduction

Thesis statement: Children, undeniably, are not things to be molded but are people to be folded. Innocent, kind, and soft nature of children shows that they are people to be folded. However, rational steps can also help in folding children positively.

2- A glance at children's capacity to be folded

3- Manifestation of the nature of children

- Innocent, kind, and simple nature of children
 - Pure from the world evils
 - Followers of happenings around them
 - Soft to accept roles of people
 - Obedience in all characters
- Phrase it properly

4- ^{How} why children are not things to be molded but are people to be folded

- Parental attention to children shape their behavior
- Society's influence on morality of children
- Religious norms, attributes, and values in folding children
- Educational performances making them obedient

- e) Lessons of patriotism fold them in the national integration
- f) Love and harmony folds their positive image
- g) Role of media in setting mindsets of children

5- Methodologies to fold children positively

- a) Promote women's education as educated motherhood
- b) Encourage positive performances of children by awarding them
- c) Add moral lessons in the curriculum to influence young mindsets
- d) Improve role of media in spreading positive stories, cartoons, and videos

6- Conclusion

Add more diverse arguments particularly while attempting abstract topic