Teaching tactics and children's Psychology:

Ways of dealing with children

The author is disappointed by the wisdom educational theorists who attached much importance to the negative and less to the positive aspects of interfering with children. Like pets, children acquire love and limitation easily without using them for some future endeavor nor they are grateful to such affection.

Less children have spontaneous love for teachers. Moreover, teachers act professional in dealing with children thus teaching should not be like long profession. Do not begin new sentence with because fatigue with it and can cause harm their outlet. They need strict discipline which needs teachers to come up with discipline without harming children's concern and provide training to the youth. Otherwise, no wise rules can substitute love and affection.
