Every age brings such ~~a many~~ situations that have to be accepted despite ~~nobody~~ nobody likes them. Sometimes this happens because nature might want to test us so she places these types of situations in front of us that ^{have} has no significance for us; although we do not belong to this, this becomes the part of our lives. This is also happening in ^{today's} today's world. Every century has brought ~~such a~~ completely new changes compared to ~~the~~ previous centuries. Advances in natural sciences and arts have conferred human with ~~a~~ such things that can be called as the ^{waste} waste of scientific and economic development. When nature provides us with fruits, it also places restrictions on how we dispose of their peels. If this is not done, environment will get more contaminated.

The old man said that there was a mountain beyond the jungle where that flower blossomed whose fragrance restored the lost vision, but the mountain was very high and had infinite rocks, thorny bushes and heavy stones that blocked the path. To ascend that mountain, many people had come and gone but nobody had reached the flower. Perhaps that is why, there is sorrow and hardship in the world and man is in the ^{continuous} continuous search of light.
