PAKISTAN & REGIONAL ORGANIZATION

SAARC

• INTRODUCTION: (Background)

SAARC came into being as an expression of South Asia's collective resolve to develop a coherent regional cooperative framework in an increasingly inter-dependent world and to keep a pace with changing times for socio-economic well-being of its people. It was meant to bring a change in terms of poverty eradication and sustainable development to a region which is home to 1/5th of humanity. Even after quarter century & Members-

The ~~is~~ South Asian Association for Regional organization co-operation (SAARC) is an international organization for south Asia countries. It comprises of 8 countries- Maldives, Bhutan, Bangladesh, Sri Lanka, Pakistan, India, Nepal & Afghanistan. The Idea of South (SAARC) was initiated by Bangladesh whose president Zia-Ur Rehman floated the idea of forming SAARC. Zia-Ur Rehman concived idea in 1980. He believed that the nations of South Asia had common values which rooted in their social, ethnic cultural and historical traditions.

After the consultation, the Foreign Secretaries of the seven founding member nations met for 1st time in Colombo in April 1981. The meeting identified 5 broad areas for regional cooperation.

The Foreign Ministers of South Asia at their 1st Meeting at New Delhi in August 1981 adopted Declaration of South Asia (SAARC) and formally launched the integrated programme of action in 5 areas.

- 1) Agriculture    2) Rural Development    3) Meteorology
- 4) Telecommunication    5) Health & Population

The Foreign ministers decided to have SAARC at Summit meetings of Heads of State/Government at the 1st SAARC Summit held in Dhaka 7-8 December 1985, adopted the charter formally establishing the SAARC.

AREAS OF CONFLICT ISSUES

- ① Kashmir issue
- ② Border disputes
- ③ Trade disputes
- ④ Terrorism and interference in internal affairs
- ⑤ Public opinion of mutual hatred and distrust

South Asia continues to be plagued with ongoing disputes among nations and the countries of the SAARC are grappling with conflicts within their own national territorial boundaries.

Tiffs between India and Pakistan have dominated SAARC since its formation in 1985, and played the central role of failing to boost economic growth and collective self-reliance. Both countries have undermined the bloc to the extent that members do more trade through bilateral partnership than as a region. As a result, growth gaps in South Asia have been widening sharply.

The common vision upholding the ideals of peace, stability, good-neighbourly relations and mutually beneficial cooperation in South Asia remains a distant dream. SAARC has neither improved the quality of life in our region nor accelerated the common growth, social progress and cultural development of its member states.

The following are key issues faced by SAARC.

1) ENERGY: SAARC region is facing energy problems due to lack of interest of political parties to maintain and properly utilize energy centre of SAARC. SAARC members are still producing energy through expensive and non-renewable resources.

2) Climate Change: In last year 2022 SAARC major countries, Pakistan and India both were worstly affected by repercussions of climate change. In Pakistan, almost 46% of crop was destroyed due to heavy torrential rains and around 1500 km road network was destroyed.

3) Poverty: South Asia is today one of the world's poorest region of the world with a vast majority of its people still living in grinding poverty and sub-human conditions. & out of 8 SAARC member states (Afghanistan, Bangladesh, Bhutan, the Maldives and Nepal belong to the United Nations Category of Least Developed Countries / LDCs). With one or two exceptions, SAARC countries also lag behind in developing genuine democracy, rule of law and good governance.

With its unbroken legacy of poverty, hunger, disease, illiteracy, and conflict, SAARC as a regional cooperation organization has not gone beyond declaratory pronouncement with no tangible achievements to its credit. SAARC's regional approach not only suffers operational inadequacies but is also captive to the peculiar geopolitical environment in which India's hegemonic role and its outstanding problems with its neighbours continue to hamper meaningful progress towards regional integration.

India's geographic centrality in the region has given rise to host of border conflicts and water disputes in the region all of which involve India, be it India-Pakistan, India-Bangladesh or others. Absence of an intra-regional dispute settlements mechanism has severely limited SAARC's capacity to contribute to regional peace, security and development without which there can be no meaningful security progress in socioeconomic and cultural cooperation in the region.

South Asia must free itself of tensions, conflicts and escalating military budgets. (Along with its limitation, SAARC has been confronted with several challenges as well. The nature and relationship b/w and among SAARC countries creation of SAARC in itself was challenge.)

SAARC CHALLENGES:

1) ILLITERACY: Despite concerted efforts, South Asia remains a backward region where the largest number of illiterates live. Some member countries like Maldives and Sri Lanka has highest literacy rate 99% & 98% respectively but in Afghanistan rate is 28%. SAARC countries must

2) Population: The region represents almost 21% of world population, but share $ 2104 in world's gross national income. It has not fully geared up to provide material benefits to more than 1.5 billion inhabitants. Most of the quality of life indicators are weak.

The number of poor is more than $500 million, more than one third of the region's total population.
→ SAARC is amongst the regions having a low profile quality of life.

3) ECONOMIC INDICATORS

The average per capita income at US$ ~~2,117~~ is only ~~17%~~ of the world's average of US$ 12,167.

With vast resources, the SAARC region is confronted with the formidable challenges posed by poverty, unemployment, low levels of production and pressure of population.

4) TRADE:

In spite of SAARC's emphasis on trade as one of the major priority areas of economic cooperation total external trade of the region amounts to a mere approximately 2.12% (2020). Intra regional exchange represents only 7.5% regional Trade - 6% export 5% imports. Tariffs are among the highest in the world.

The region receives only a nominal amount of private capital inflows with regional share in RDI limited to less than 2% of the world RDI flows.

5) KASHMIR ISSUE:

It is one of the major challenge for SAARC to work as regional organization in the South Asia. Due to Kashmir issues recent last year summits has not been conducted due to India-pakistan tension because of provok revokes imposed laws Article 370 of Indian's constitution on 5th August 2019 that granted special rights to Muslim-majority states.

- Afghanistan remain battle ground for big empires which is major challenge for SAARC.

7) TERRORISM: <sup>Biggest challenge for SAARC.</sup> As recent and abrupt shifts of NATO and US forces from Afghanistan can create enhance the terrorism attack in the south Asian regions. Terrorism has base in the south asian region specially in Afghanistan. SAARC has major challenge of terrorism in its members state due to involvement of non-state actors.

SAARC: FUTURE

COLLABORATE & INTEGRATE

OR

CONFRONT & DISINTEGRATE.

SAARC members states must collaborate and integrate with each others avoiding bilateral relations b/w each other. The objectives of SAARC as set forth in its Charter represent our "common vision" which should continue to guide regional cooperations in a holistic manner. While striking balance b/w ambition, the region's peculiar environment-and operational capacity. The foremost priority should be to ensure we have our regional perspective clearly before us. SAARC goals and priorities pragmatically defined and

SAARC - FREE TRADE AREA:

In 1995, SAARC initiated first step towards a South Asian Free Trade Area. It was signed off on 6th January 2004 during 12th SAARC summit held in Islamabad, Pakistan.

SAFTA can become game changer for SAARC's revival and integration which can lead towards having largest common market through having major portion of population (1.8 billion) is the south Asian region.

SAARC region has future potential for interlinked market. Pakistan is a bridge for region to have free trade bw South Asian countries.

ENERGY: SAARC member countries are mostly importers of energy. They are not producing their own energy. If countries starting to produce started fulfilling their energy needs by their own resources which will enhance their economic and trade growth in the region. All the member countries are growing economies.

Pakistan is can play major role in the development of SAARC due to its geostrategic location. ~~and~~ Pak-India relations resolution is ~~major~~ essential for the revival and expansion of SAARC. Both countries has to focus on SAARC to make it successful <sup>regional</sup> organization like ASEAN.

- Pakistan can play vital role to eradicate terrorism from Afghanistan and <sup>can</sup> provide them access to Indian
- to introduce their std in foreign markets.

REMEDIAL ROADMAP

I. CONCEPTUAL REORIENTATION:

Besides political commitment and deeper engagement on the part of its member states SAARC needs a new result-oriented conceptual framework and operational culture consistent with the regional ground realities.

II. ATTITUDINAL CHANGE:

No other region in the world is today in greater need to redirect its energies and resources to eradicate poverty and to improve the quality of life of its people. SAARC must find ways to work together towards the agreed common vision. This would require an attitudinal change both at national level and regional levels. To move from "declaratory stance" to an "implementation mode" equipped with necessary means and resources.

III. ENABLING ENVIRONMENT: Conflicts is the last thing the region needs. Given the unique political history of South Asia and the particular social and cultural propensities of its inhabitants, this region needs stable peace, not confrontation. It needs a cooperative approach towards the resolution of contentious issues through dialogue, not perpetuation of hegemonic ambitions, which generate disputes.

For an enabling environment, South Asia must free itself of tensions, conflicts and confrontation and escalating military budgets. For peace and tranquillity in the region efforts will have to be made to promote mutual trust, confidence building and conflict resolution.

SAARC could be an appropriate forum to generate mutuality of interest and common benefit in regional approach

IV. OPERATIONAL READJUSTMENT

As matter of general principle, all regional programmes and activities should be based on a realistic evaluation of the socio-economic situation of the region supported by latest economic data and information.

General attention and allocation of GDP ratio to education at national levels as a means of steering the member states to development and modernity. Health, including basic health facilities, population welfare and community development must also remain priority areas.

→ To enhance intra-SAARC business and trade, adequate infrastructure is needed for transportation of goods. Regional banking facilities and mutual certification measures and standards might help expedite intra-regional business transaction.

Joint efforts to gain free access to markets outside the SAARC region for raw materials and finished products of the Association's member-states.

V) Non-GOVERNMENTAL ROLE:

Increased engagement of non-governmental stakeholders, including NGOs, civil society and the private sector in realization of SAARC goals and objectives will not only help bridge the mental divide, created by governmental policies and propaganda, between the people of the region but will also give an added impetus to process of regional cooperation.

- Visa regime in South Asia must be more open.
- Promote people-to-people contacts, business and cultural exchanges and cooperative links among educational institutions in the region.

v) FUNCTIONAL METHODOLOGIES

Decisions in SAARC are contingent upon unanimity. Combined with existing political rivalries, the rigid insistence on unanimity on all decisions makes negotiations an cumbersome exercise often leading to a barely palatable compromise. This aspect needs to be rationalized by restricting the principle of unanimity to vital issues, whereas decision on other matters should be taken on the basis of simple majority of the total membership provided that the remaining members choose to abstain and/or are not against decision.

vii) STRUCTURAL REINFORCEMENT

SAARC's "structural reinforcement" needs coherent modalities and effective mechanism for follow-up and implementation. Some of the proposed measures are

a) Hierarchically, the highest authority must remain with the heads of state and government who should meet biennially or as and when necessary to provide political impetus to regional process.

b) SAARC's organizational structure should have fewer but more decisive organs.

- Council of Meeting should continue as at present, meeting twice a year with the responsibility of the formulation of Association's policies, reviewing progress and deciding on new areas of cooperation.

CPR should have 3 functional Committees (Economic, Social, Cultural) at expert-working level to meet on regular basis at the Secretariat in Kathmandu.

VIII ) INTER - REGIONAL COOPERATION:

SAARC must seek closer linkages with other Asian regional organizations, namely ECO, ASEAN and Shanghai Cooperation Organization (SCO), to explore areas of common interests and build complementarities for mutual beneficial inter-regional cooperation, especially trade energy and transport and communication.

Efforts should be made to enhance collaboration with all relevant organizations of UN system including trade and finance institutions for capacity building of SAARC in its regional endeavors.

CONCLUSION:

South Asian Association Regional Cooperation is the regional organization of South Asia, having 8 member and 9 observer states. SAARC member states' bilateral relations are negatively affecting the performance of SAARC. Pak-India rivalry, poverty, population, Terrorism and climate change are major challenges for SAARC. Moreover India's hegemonic behaviour with other SAARC member states created tension in South Asia. Now in a nut shell, SAARC needs revitalization and expansion to become successful regional organization like ASEAN. The real challenge, therefore lies in moving from realm of ideas to implementable plans of actual action. South Asia needs an exceptional impulse to keep pace with the changing times. This fresh regional impulse must spring from within South Asia. Increased engagement of non-governmental stakeholders, including NGOs, civil society and private sector in realization of SAARC's goals will not only help bridge the mental divide, created by governmental policies and propaganda between peoples of the region but also give an added 'impetus' to the process of regional cooperation.

- Must promote people-to-people contacts, business and cultural exchanges and cooperative links among educational institutions in the region.

ROLE OF PAKISTAN IN STRENGTHEN SAARC

Since independence of Pakistan, Pakistan has never favored isolation in international matters.

It has always been keen and eager to develop close and friendly relations with the neighbours.

Exempli Gratia: Swap visit of Pakistan in February 2019 and returned balls abhi Nandan to India.

- Pakistan played a pivotal role in the formal launching of the SAARC at 1st summit at the Phakta in 1985. After the formation of SAARC Pakistan has lived upto its commitments by taking part in all the activities of the SAARC.
→ Pakistan is an active member of SAARC which provide suitable frameworks to its member states to collectively stimulate cooperation and progress and to promote peace and stability in South Asia.
- Pakistan has advanced its belief that a secure and peaceful environment in South Asia is crucial for the advancement of social welfare, economic development and prosperity in the field of collective interests.

- Pakistan believes that the resolution of core issues among the member states would give a remarkable boost to the organization.
  - Competition between the nuclear armed India and Pakistan has caused apprehension and tension among the SAARC members.
  - SAARC could not developed into a successful organization due to authoritative position of India in the region and Pakistan's apprehensive attitude. Pakistan is not agree to accept Indian supremacy and conversely India is not ready to negotiate on equal basis with the Pakistan.
  - Though such Indian efforts are aimed at helping Pakistan, but in fact damaging her own interest as such acts are against its economic advancement and poverty alleviation.
- Pakistan can strengthen SAARC as follows:
- 1) Promote regional trade through BRI
  - 2) Bilateral / Involve UN to resolve Kashmir disputes
  - 3) Arrange peace talks of Iran with USA

4) Pakistan can play leading role in both initiating and welcoming visits and exchanges with personalities from various fields of life in the member countries of the SAARC.
