

There are various thoughts about the freedom and education of children. One of them is that if children are set free then they must be virtuous. This seems to be an ideal thought as it can not be happened as children are like young and adult people. Author is not agree with this concept that education should not be for morality or morals but it should be for development. People live in a society which need a complete collaboration and cooperation for its survival. moral perfection and intelligence can not be achieved without education. So, it must be for more growth and ethics development.

Title

Education and morality.

total = 255
pages = 70