

Narration practice of a dialogue

Jack greeted Swarup and asked him to close his books and had a tennis. Swarup apologized to Jack for not closing his books because examination was coming near and he wanted to spend every hour in study. Jack ridiculed for get about examination he did not care of himself, what was the use of these exams. Swarup cleared that's okay anyone did not get a degree if once not pass examination and I had promised on being graduate. Jack ridiculed further what good graduation could do for you that enough you would get job in government office as clerck, but there were hundred who had got degree's and wait for job. Swarup partially accept the facts and argued that he was not studying only to pass examination but also to improve his knowledge and to developed intellectual thinking.
