Promote digital learning

Digital learning is an advanced variable in the global world. Truly, digital learning is blessing for people to perform their responsibilities timely and accurately with the help of digital technology. However, it has facilitated human's life completely and is more convenient for people. For instance, the digital learning started in Kenya by taking a small initial step, naming "The Digital Literacy Programme", in a small school, "The Digital School" and provided hundred (100) digital devices to primary students and teachers to get benefit from modern technology. Hence, this digital learning scheme made today's world advanced.
