Veda truly reflect the age and tell us about man at that early age. Man had all the desires, cravings and weaknesses of animal nature

He did realise that there were superior beings than him and recognised the different forces. He was certain of the existence of an all powerful god and was prepared to submit before his authority. He knew that he had to struggle for his existence and hoped and prayed for the fulfilment of his own essential requirements. Nevertheless the poet of the age felt that something was missing and was far from happy.
