"Prospects of Education in Future"

It has been described by the author that Education is not developed independently rather it is influenced by society. It teaches what other has come across their lives. Education in future will be influenced by demograph, technology and family. However its purpose will be same, to prepare students to survive in society. School Education in future will change due to change in society, however its basic purpose will be to teach basic knowledge of society. In coming days the purpose of education will be the development of intelligence. Change in demography and technology will pressurize educational system. People will migrate from underdeveloped areas to developed area. People will either adopt the culture of developed area or will spread their culture to developed areas. In this way the education will be influenced by culture.
