Pro's of Doing Nothing

People who do not know what to do and when to do are responsible for the moral degradation of this world. Laziness must be the biggest sin in the devil's world but it is not the cause of all evils on this world. This world has a lot of potential but lacks direction. If ~~the~~ ruling class of the last century had a desire of doing nothing instead of doing things wrong, it would have been much better. Even <sup>on</sup> these days, if politicians gave a chance to laziness for a while, it will bring great results. Same goes for the religious sects, if they try to refrain from useless bashing. All of these personalities need some rest to recover their mental fitness.
