

Lack of Implementation of education Policies in Pakistan.

In Pakistan there is no implementation and proper framework on policies. In this context education institutes are failed to produce better graduates, and policies are interrelated to political instability but unfortunately Pakistan is facing political instability. Government should take measures to implement policies. Pakistan spending 2% of its budget over education sector. It should also increase from 2% to 4% or more. So government make better policies about implementation. And it is compulsory for the future of Pakistan. Because a nation with out education can't be succeed.
