

The Far-reaching effects of Political instability in Pakistan.

1) Introduction

Thesis Statement: Political instability has become a serious and threatening problem in Pakistan. There are many causes of political instability in Pakistan. Also, political instability has a great impact on economic instability. However, by adopting certain preventive measures the far-reaching effect of political instability in Pakistan can be mitigated.

2) How political instability affects Pakistan in a long term

3) Causes of the political instability in Pakistan

- a) Successful vote of no-confidence against the sitting Prime Minister.
- b) weak Political party system cause political instability
- c) History of weak democratic culture in Pakistan.
- d) use of force against protestors by the state
- e) Interference of military in the political affairs causes political instability

4) Impacts of political instability in Pakistan.

- a) Political instability impact the economic stability.
- b) Recession in the stock exchange market because of political instability.
- c) Devaluation of currency
- d) No other organizations or countries are willing to give loan to Pakistan because of the political instability
- e) Political instability impacts the national integrity of Pakistan

5) Way Forward: How the far-reaching effect of political instability can be mitigated

- a) The political parties and the streets should return to the parliament and resolves its dispute on the floor of National Assembly.
- b) For Political stability, economic stability must be achieved
- c) Military and Judiciary should not show direct involvement
- d) The better option is elections

6) Conclusion.